

Welcome to the new Scholastic Children's Books catalogue for 2015.

Here at Scholastic, we have a simple idea at the heart of everything we do. We love kids! And we hope that we know kids better than anyone. Real kids: funny, silly, sometimes tired and grumpy, hugely curious, hugely imaginative. We are very proud that Scholastic's 2015 list has the biggest kid appeal yet.

Across the country, little kids snuggling up want bedtime with Julia Donaldson and Axel Scheffler. The Scarecrows' Wedding is their beautiful, pastoral picture book: an instant classic. Mermaid by TV presenter Cerrie Burnell will be another big hit, a sparkling picture book all about friendship and underwater adventure. And for bedtime fun, Alex T. Smith gives a big twist to a classic fairy tale, with wild animals and doughnuts in Little Red and the Very Hungry Lion.

What about big brothers and sisters? There's not a kid aged 7 and up who doesn't love Tom Gates. As our favourite review says, "Get this book, it is amazing! You would be so unlucky not to it's extremely funny and smart." In 2015 we have Yes No Maybe coming from Tom's multi-talented creator, Liz Pichon. We've also acquired a debut by two of the funniest guys around, Sam & Mark. Jokes and pranks abound in The Adventures of Long Arm. Every kid knows that Captain Underpants is funnier than homework, so we have a brand-new Captain Underpants book for laughing your head off before spellings.

For decades now, Scholastic has been publishing the most imaginative books for tweens and young adults. We're proud to be publishing new editions of His Dark Materials trilogy by Philip Pullman, "One of the supreme literary dreamers and magicians of our time" (Guardian). And Holly Webb is writing a sequel to one of the most emotional children's classics of all, The Secret Garden.

We welcome Melinda Salisbury to the Scholastic list with her hotly-anticipated first book in a YA trilogy. In The Sin-Eater's Daughter, Twylla has a gift – or a curse. She can kill with a single touch. She must navigate her way between good and evil, murder and conspiracy, duty and love. Every teenage reader is going to be obsessed. Because ultimately Twylla is on the same journey, re-thinking who she is, in her family and in her world.

With every good wish for a very successful 2015.

Ten years ago, Scholastic invited me to set up my own list, Alison Green Books. Since then, thanks to a lot of hard work by brilliant authors and illustrators, over 65 books have been published under my imprint. Between them, they have sold over three million copies in the UK alone. They've won ten awards; been shortlisted for 35 more, and have been translated into 27 languages. It's been a huge pleasure to see the list go from strength to strength, and my team and I take great pride in commissioning new authors and illustrators such as Gareth Edwards and Nicholas Frith, as well as publishing the incomparable stars of the picture-book world, Julia Donaldson and Axel Scheffler.

Eva Ibbotson

Eva Ibbotson is one of the best-loved children's authors in the world with titles such as Journey to the River Sea and One Dog and His Boy. Her books have been shortlisted for the Carnegie Medal, the Guardian Children's Fiction Prize, the Roald Dahl Funny Prize, and many more. Her four children showed her that children like to read about ghosts, wizards, and witches "because they are just like people but madder and more interesting." Eva died at the age of 85 in 2010.

Goosebumps

R. L. Stine

Prepare to get... Goosebumps! R. L. Stine's Goosebumps is one of the biggest horror series of all time, with over 400 million books sold across the world. It's the book series that left a generation of kids screaming in the dark and introduced the world to Slappy, the scariest dummy in history. In 2015 Goosebumps is set to be even bigger with the arrival of the eagerly-awaited Goosebumps feature film starring Jack Black, which is out in cinemas in August.
