

It is dark inside the belly of HMS Grasshopper,
where Judy is trapped, alone.
She can't see a way out.
She cannot hear the crew
and that – she knows – is a good thing.
She did her job as a ship's mascot well.

They have gone.

But then she hears a new sound:
clang clang clang
on a metal ladder!

Weak from the heat and her thirst,
Judy manages a single bark.

And someone hears her!

