

Three Special Gifts

Name: _____

1. Fill in each gap with the correct pronoun to replace the underlined words.

they	she	they	it	he	she
------	-----	------	----	----	-----

Although the old man had allowed his daughters-in-law extra visits before,
_____ did not like them going away.

It had been some months since the daughters-in-law had seen their mothers.
The old man knew _____ would ask him for a visit soon.

After a while, the third daughter-in-law stumbled and almost fell.

“My shoe is broken!” _____ exclaimed.

Just then, a young woman came along riding a buffalo.

“Are you all right?” _____ asked,
seeing the third daughter-in-law’s tears.

As the daughters-in-law looked at the gifts, the young woman explained what _____ were.

The first daughter-in-law lit the candle inside the paper lantern and handed _____ to him.

Three Special Gifts

Name: _____

2. Circle whether each event from the story is from the orientation, the complication or the resolution.

The old man decided the clever young woman would make a wonderful fourth daughter-in-law.

orientation

complication

resolution

The third daughter-in-law's shoe broke on the way to visit her mother.

orientation

complication

resolution

The three daughters-in-law missed having an older woman in the household to guide them.

orientation

complication

resolution

The old man told the daughters-in-law that they had to bring him back special gifts if they wanted to visit their mothers again.

orientation

complication

resolution

3. Draw one of the special gifts. Explain what it is.

